Registration, Accommodations & Travel Information
Objectives & Networking
On behalf of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada (Royal College) and College of Family Physicians of Canada (CFPC), we are delighted to present the preliminary program for the 14th National CPD Accreditation Conference, October 23 to 24 2023, at the Sheraton Toronto Airport Hotel & Conference Centre, located at 801 Dixon Road, Toronto, Ontario.

This two-day invitational conference draws participation from continuing professional development (CPD) professionals from university continuing medical education offices, the CFPC's National and Chapter offices, Mainpro® reviewers, Royal College accredited CPD providers and simulation programs, provincial medical regulatory authorities, members of the CFPC’s National Committee on CPD, the Royal College’s CPD Accreditation Committee, Professional Learning and Development Committee, as well as other partner organizations. Attendance is encouraged for both physicians and non-physicians responsible for the development, implementation, accreditation and evaluation of CPD activities.

The theme of this year’s conference is “Advancing healthcare through CPD”. Building on the strengths of our current CPD frameworks, educational support services, and CPD accreditation systems, our focus this year is on innovation and imagination in CPD design which promotes inclusion and health equity leading to improved outcomes for patients.

The program includes many opportunities for participants to share their own expertise, learn from others, and recognize exceptional work that promotes innovation and excellence in CPD accreditation. We were thrilled with the number of exceptional abstract submissions for workshops, posters, and orals and pleased to provide an opportunity for our community to share and learn from each other. For further inspiration, the closing plenary will focus on the alignment of CPD and implementation science and how the integration of research and practice can improve outcomes and lead to quicker adaptation of new knowledge and discoveries.

To emphasize the value of networking and collaboration, a networking reception will be held at the end of day one which will also feature an opportunity to recognize the latest recipients of the Coalition for Physician Learning and Practice Improvement’s Certified Professional in CPD (Healthcare), CPC(HC) designation. We hope that you will stay and celebrate with your colleagues.

We are delighted to welcome our community back to an in-person conference and we hope your participation in the 14th National CPD Accreditation Conference will be beneficial to your important work towards the ever-evolving national CPD systems and enhancing physician learning and practice improvement. We look forward to welcoming you in October!

PUSHING BACK THE BOUNDARIES OF CPD: INNOVATION THROUGH IMAGINATION

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Speaker</th>
<th>Martin Tremblay (Fédération des médecins spécialistes du Québec),</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>During this session, we will explore how creative thinking and developing a scholarly mindset can promote innovation to help a continuing professional development (CPD) program thrive. By embracing emerging technologies and engineering innovative course designs, we can create engaging and interactive learning experiences to reinvigorate our CPD program. Lesser-used approaches, such as microlearning, storytelling, gamification, virtual simulations, and practice assessment tools, can enhance engagement, motivation, knowledge retention, and practice change transforming CPD into a dynamic and effective journey. To push the boundaries of CPD, it is important to develop an organizational culture that fosters collaboration, allows time for experimentation, challenges the status quo, and values lifelong learning. Developing a scholarly mindset encourages professionals not only to engage in research but also to conduct scholarly activities. This proactive approach entails committing to seeking out new information, research, and best practices in our field to enhance our expertise and conduct CPD activities of the highest quality, grounded in theory. This benefits not only the individual but also contributes to the collective growth and improvement of the organization as a whole. By promoting best practices, embracing creativity, thinking innovatively, and pushing the boundaries of traditional CPD activities, we can pave the way for transformative growth in our discipline. Let's embark on this journey together to explore the possibilities offered by imagination and (re)shape the future of CPD.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Learning Objectives</td>
<td>At the end of this session, participants will be able to:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>1. Describe how imagination and technology can foster the development of outside-the-box educational strategies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>2. Explain why a scholarly mindset can enhance your CPD program.</td>

2. Determine what factors contribute to the creation of an accessible and inclusive learning environment.
3. Infer how to address health inequities in training content and learning activities. |
ROYAL COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS OF CANADA WORKSHOPS

RC-1: ACCREDITATION 101

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Speakers</th>
<th>Michel Smith (Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada), Chanelle Goulet (Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Accredited CPD providers are responsible for reviewing their own accredited activities along with those developed by external organizations. This interactive workshop centers on the standards used to accredit educational activities. Participants will discover the tools and resources necessary to accredit their own, as well as externally developed educational activities. This workshop will integrate case studies and questions to enhance a practical understanding of the application of these standards.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| Learning Objectives | At the end of this session, participants will be able to:
1. Explain the criteria established to determine if the developing organization meets the definition of a physician organization.
2. Discuss the educational and ethical standards all programs must meet to be approved as accredited CPD activities.
3. Identify at least one area for improvement in the review process for their organizations. |

RC-2: BLENDED AND HYFLEX CPD

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Speakers</th>
<th>Heather Dow (Canadian Association of Pathologists), James Kim (University of Calgary)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>As CPD moves beyond Covid-19 Emergency Response Teaching, providers may be considering whether to go back to face-to-face (F2F) or move towards newer models of multi-method CPD delivery such as HyFlex. However, several barriers prevent widespread adoption of Blended and HyFlex CPD delivery including conference configurations, faculty development and learner engagement. This workshop will help discuss some of these issues, potential solutions and why we should continue to push beyond purely F2F or online CPD towards multi-method delivery CPD.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| Learning Objectives | At the end of this session, participants will be able to:
1. Define the difference between online, blended, hybrid and HyFlex learning, and state the evidence currently available for each.
2. Discuss practical tips, tools and learning frameworks for online (esp. blended and HyFlex) environments.
3. Analyze what features of online CPD provision we wish to retain, what we want to discard (or go back to F2F methods) and what we are willing to rethink altogether. |
RC-3: DEVELOPMENT OF A HYBRID SIMULATION-BASED PROCEDURAL SKILL CPD USING THE LEARN, SEE, PRACTICE, PROVE, DO, MAINTAIN PROCEDURAL SKILLS TRAINING FRAMEWORK

Speakers
Jennifer Allegro (The Hospital for Sick Children), Emily Louca (The Hospital for Sick Children)

Description
Simulation-based education is an instructional technique that enables medical trainees to safely gain competency in procedural skills. An evidence-based pedagogical framework for procedural skills training using simulation will be described, consisting of 6 stages: Learn, See, Practice, Prove, Do, and Maintain. The procedural skills framework includes both cognitive and (psycho)motor components required to perform a manual task. A novel delivery method using a hybrid approach to simulation-based procedural skills training will be discussed. Participants will be provided with the opportunity to apply the framework to competency area(s) in their respective areas of practice during the workshop.

Learning Objectives
At the end of this session, participants will be able to:

1. Describe the use of the Learn, See, Practice, Prove, Do, Maintain Procedural Skills Training Framework in the development of procedural skills training session.
2. Identify procedural skills within their healthcare setting where the training framework could be applied and differentiate applicability to hybrid approach Identify questions the research literature can address in designing future CPD activities.
3. Apply the Procedural Training Framework to a skill in their healthcare setting.

RC-4: INTEGRATING COMMUNITIES OF PRACTICE INTO CPD PLANNING AND DELIVERY: WHY? WHAT? HOW?

Speakers
Clare Cook (Northern Ontario School of Medicine), James Goertzen (Northern Ontario School of Medicine)

Description
Our present and future complex healthcare systems require physicians and health professionals with competencies to effectively deliver team based care. A community of practice (CoP) approach to CPD supports team and group based learning and application of learning to day-to-day practice. Many CPD providers have limited knowledge and experience with CPD programing which incorporate CoP principles. This workshop will provide practical CPD examples, strategies, and anticipated challenges for attendees to incorporate CoP principles into their CPD context.

Learning Objectives
At the end of this session, participants will be able to:

1. Describe the characteristic features of a community of practice.
2. Employ a community of practice lens to key aspects of the program planning cycle (identify learning needs, develop learning objectives, design educational activities, and program evaluation).
3. Apply one or more strategies to support the development or strengthening of a community of practice within a CPD program in their context.
ROYAL COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS OF CANADA WORKSHOPS

RC-5: ACCREDITATION 102: A CLOSER LOOK AT CHALLENGING STANDARDS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Speakers</th>
<th>Tyrone Czernon (CFPC), Robin Kinch (Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>This workshop goes beyond the basics of the activity accreditation standards. Through their work together, the CFPC and the Royal College have identified activity standards that accredited CPD providers have struggled with. This workshop will explore those standards and provide guidance on how to improve their implementation within your CPD program.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| Learning Objectives | At the end of this session, participants will be able to:
1. Discover the role needs assessments play as the foundation of accredited CPD programs.
2. Manage the relationship with non-physician organizations through co-development
3. Facilitate the incorporation CFPC and Royal College review processes into your accreditation office processes. |

A: DIVERSIFYING AND ADVANCING JUSTICE THROUGH THE CONTENT OF CPD YOU ARE CREATING AND ACCREDITING

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Speakers</th>
<th>Allison Bright (Queen’s University), Paula Muis (Queen’s University), Eleftherios Soleas (Queen’s University)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Representation in CPD matters and it has always been a source of renewal and rejuvenation. This workshop offers hope and opportunity, but most importantly it offers justice in multiple dimensions: racial, cultural, professional, hierarchical, gender, and more. This program offers a low-cost, high-impact approach to increasing the representativeness and by extension the audience of CPD programming. It does so in a fashion that also gently disrupts entrenched systemic inequities and calls in speakers and planning committees with resources and supports. In short, we’re not burning down the barn, we’re adding seats and amenities.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Learning Objectives</td>
<td>At the end of this session, participants will be able to:</td>

FACILITATED POSTER SESSION

Description

This session will give continuing professional development professionals an opportunity to collaborate and promote innovation and excellence in accreditation. Posters are a visual aid and communication tool which allows CPD professionals to share findings and display their work. An effective poster can engage colleagues, start conversations, help foster collaborations and help researchers’ network. During this facilitated poster session, each presenter will give a short presentation and answer questions from participants. Each of the posters will address one of the following themes: Research in CPD, CPD/Accreditation Innovations, Technology Enhanced CPD or Dangerous Ideas/Challenge us to Change CPD.

Learning Objectives

At the end of this session, participants will be able to:

1. Explain the importance and implications of an innovative project as it pertains to the CPD community.
2. Outline a project that has been undertaken by another CPD provider organization.
3. Identify an area of their practice that could benefit from one of the projects presented during the session.

OPENING PLENARY
Branka Agic MD PhD

Dr. Branka Agic is a scientist with Education Research at the Centre for Addiction and Mental Health (CAMH). She is also an Assistant Professor at the Department of Psychiatry and Dalla Lana School of Public Health (DLSPH) and Associate Director of the Master of Science in Community Health (MSCHS) in Addiction and Mental Health Program at DLSPH, University of Toronto.

Dr. Agic holds a PhD in Health and Behavioral Sciences with a Collaborative Specialization in Addiction Studies from the University of Toronto (U of T), along with a Medical Degree from the University of Sarajevo, Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Dr. Agic has over 20 years of experience in continuing professional development (CPD) and knowledge mobilization, a strong background in instructional design and technology-enhanced teaching and learning, and expertise in health equity and social determinants of health. Her research interest focuses on advancing equity in education and health care. Dr. Agic has led the development of the Health Equity and Inclusion Framework (HEI) for Education and Training that has been adopted by a number of organizations across North America including academic hospitals, CPD programs for healthcare professionals, accrediting bodies and other national and international organizations. She is currently co-leading a development of a framework for integrating structural competency into physician leadership programs. In recognition of her contributions to innovation and excellence in CPD, she and her teams have received the U of T Temerty Faculty of Medicine Fred Fallis Award in Online Learning (2014 and 2020) and the Ivan Silver Innovation Award (2019).

Martin Tremblay PhD

Martin obtained a PhD in medicinal chemistry in 2004 at the Université de Montréal. He then pursued a two-year fellowship at the Max-Planck-Institut fur Kohlenforschung in Germany. After working for 6 years in the field of drug discovery at Boehringer Ingelheim, he transitioned to the discipline of continuing professional development (CPD) by accepting a position as Director of Medical Communications at a medical communication agency in Montreal, Canada. In 2018, he joined the Federation of Medical Specialists of Quebec (FMSQ) as a Senior Research and Innovation Advisor. In his current role, Martin supports CPD initiatives through his role as the primary liaison point of contact for the 35 medical associations affiliated with the FMSQ. This includes: supporting affiliated medical associations and other stakeholders for the development, implementation, and evaluation of activities following best practices, leading research and development of CPD innovations, and overseeing the entire accreditation process of the FMSQ and its affiliated medical associations. Along with his current position, Martin plays an active role at the Conseil québécois de développement professionnel continu des médecins, at the Coalition for Physician Learning and Practice Improvement, and at the Society of Academic Continuing Medical Education. His research interests include assessment and simulation as a means of CPD.
