Message from
Francine Lemire, MD CM, CCFP, FCFP, CAE, ICD.D
Executive Director and CEO

At the College of Family Physicians of Canada (CFPC), taking time to recognize the recipients of awards and CFPC Special Designations is always a highlight of our year. The dedication our members have shown to completing their training, enhancing their skill sets, and advancing our discipline over the past year has been exceptional.

In 2021 we are celebrating the largest cohort of Certification in the College of Family Physicians of Canada (CCFP) recipients in the CFPC's history. While we acknowledge that the high number of individuals receiving their CCFP in part reflects the challenges residents faced in finishing their educational requirements and changes to the exam administration during the pandemic, it also shows their resilience and tenacity. To all CCFP recipients, I thank you on behalf of the College for your perseverance and I congratulate you on achieving this important milestone in your careers under these unusually difficult circumstances.

We are also pleased to have this opportunity to acknowledge the hard work that family physicians have engaged in to meet the requirements for Certificates of Added Competence, acquire Fellowship in the College of Family Physicians of Canada, and qualify for Life Membership. Your commitment to your patients, communities, learners, and colleagues—and to your own lifelong learning—fuels excellence in our field.

Since we couldn't hold Convocation in person in 2021 we wanted to do something special to mark the occasion. We asked past CFPC Board members and CFPC past presidents about the meaning and significance that CFPC Special Designations hold for them, and their reflections are quite moving. I invite you to view their stories as part of our Convocation celebration video and add your own on social media using the hashtag #ProudFamilyDoctor.

Until we meet again, take good care.

W. Victor Johnston Award

Dr. Jane Philpott
Kingston, Ontario

Dr. Jane Philpott has committed her career to serving the public and to supporting the health and well-being of Canadians. A lifelong advocate for Indigenous health, she believes that building a health care system that benefits underserved communities must start with medical education.

A dedicated family physician, Dr. Philpott has spent more than 30 years working in family medicine and global health. Early in her career Dr. Philpott worked in West Africa, where she provided clinical care to patients and trained community health care workers in Niger. This experience shaped her interest in global health and prompted her to launch A Coin for Every Country, an educational program that raises funds for people affected by HIV/AIDS in Africa.

Dr. Philpott returned to Canada in 1998 and spent 17 years practising family medicine in Stouffville, Ontario, before shifting to federal politics. She represented the riding of Markham-Stouffville in the House of Commons from 2015 to 2019; during this time she served as the minister of health and then president of the Treasury Board of Canada.

In 2020 Dr. Philpott returned to medicine as the Dean of Queen's University's Faculty of Health Sciences and Director of the School of Medicine in Kingston.

At the outset of the COVID-19 pandemic Dr. Philpott offered her expertise to the team at Participation House, a home in Markham for adults with severe mental, physical, and developmental disabilities. More than 90 per cent of the patients and staff at Participation House had tested positive for the virus, and the remaining staff were in desperate need of help. Recognizing that these homes are often underserved, Dr. Philpott felt that timely support was essential to the continued health and well-being of the residents at Participation House.

Dr. Philpott received her medical degree from Western University in 1984 and completed her residency in family medicine at the University of Ottawa in 1986. Dr. Philpott later earned a master's degree in public health from the Dalla Lana School of Public Health at the University of Toronto in 2012. In 2021 she was elected a Fellow of the Canadian Academy of Health Sciences.

Honorary Membership

Dr. Shelley Ross
Edmonton, Alberta

Dr. Shelley Ross is passionate about medical education, teaching, and research. She has always enjoyed education and obtained her teaching certification in 2001. Working early in her career at a self-paced high school gave her a unique perspective on how people learn. This experience motivated her to develop a deeper understanding of how to support effective teaching, learning, and assessment.

After completing a master's degree in learning and development in 2003, Dr. Ross received her PhD in measurement and evaluation in 2008 from the Department of Educational Psychology and Leadership Studies at the University of Victoria. She draws upon these experiences in her research to "study how we train physicians and work to make that training better."

Dr. Ross is known for her tireless dedication and enthusiasm. In her current role as President of the Canadian Association for Medical Education, Dr. Ross works with medical educators to promote, advance, and recognize excellence in medical education in Canada. She and her colleagues advocate for greater recognition of the importance of medical education research in an effort to elevate the crucial role it plays in clinical practice.

As a professor in the Department of Family Medicine at the University of Alberta, Dr. Ross integrates medical education and interdisciplinary research into the curriculum and helps translate research into family medicine practice in Canada and around the world. She also leads the department's Education Strategic Planning Team and serves as Academic Director, Teaching and Learning Strategic Planning Initiatives, in the Faculty of Medicine and Dentistry.

Dr. Ross says she is grateful for the privilege to work with her "terrific family medicine colleagues" locally and across Canada and is honoured to have been accepted as part of the family medicine community.

Honorary Membership

Dr. Craig M. Campbell
Ottawa, Ontario

Dr. Craig M. Campbell is a specialist in internal medicine and an international leader in continuing professional development (CPD). He is an associate professor; the Director, Curriculum; and the Director, Curriculum Renewal, for the Undergraduate Medical Education program in the Faculty of Medicine at the University of Ottawa.

He served the family medicine community for years as a guest member of the CFPC's National Committee on Continuing Professional Development. In this role he supported the review and update of the CFPC's CPD program.

Dr. Campbell co-chaired the Future of Medical Education in Canada—CPD Project's steering committee and co-authored its report, and he served on the American Board of Medical Specialties Commission to review its Maintenance of Certification model and standards. He also co-chaired the National CPD Accreditation Conference, which the CFPC and the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada jointly host.

After joining the staff of the Royal College in 2002, Dr. Campbell served in several senior leadership roles over an 18-year period. During his time as principal senior adviser for competency-based CPD in the Office of Specialty Education, he spearheaded the development of lifelong learning and work-based assessment strategies that align with physicians' scopes of practice.

A founding member of the International Academy for CPD Accreditation, Dr. Campbell is also a past president and Fellow of the Society for Academic Continuing Medical Education. He has also served as a member of the editorial board of the Journal of Continuing Education in the Health Professions.

His research interests include developing and implementing tools and strategies to promote the use of external data and feedback to enhance the competence and performance of individual physicians, groups, and health care teams.

Dr. Campbell received his medical degree from the University of Manitoba in 1978 and completed his residency in internal medicine there in 1984.
