Advancing Family Medicine Research in Canada: A guidance report for the CFPC’s future role and action

Quick reference

The College of Family Physicians of Canada (CFPC) has developed a guidance report that outlines the specific roles and actions that the CFPC can consider and pursue as a champion of family medicine research. The proposed roles and actions were developed with input from almost 400 CFPC members and family medicine research leaders from Canada and internationally. This guidance report identifies priorities that intersect with the Section of Researchers’ (SOR) Blueprint.

The guidance report identifies 36 actions, organized around four main roles for the CFPC. The roles focus on family medicine research knowledge and skills, facilitation, advocacy, and promotion. The actions present unique opportunities to advance family medicine research for CFPC members, the discipline/profession of family medicine, and society. The report will be a resource to the CFPC’s future strategic planning and guide the organization’s efforts to advance family medicine research.

Read the full guidance report to learn more about the CFPC’s vision for advancing family medicine research in Canada.

© 2024 College of Family Physicians of Canada