

THE COLLEGE OF
FAMILY PHYSICIANS
OF CANADA

LE COLLÈGE DES
MÉDECINS DE FAMILLE
DU CANADA

I teach because...

it inspires me to be a lifelong learner and teacher

-Vivian C (Alberta)

Award nominations now open!

Applications for the CFPC's Honours and Awards Program will open in December. In the meantime, please consider applying for or nominating exceptional teachers, preceptors, and educational leaders for awards and grants offered by our partners.

Canadian Association for Medical Education

Deadline: September 6, 2019

List of Awards
List of Grants

Association of Faculties of Medicine of Canada

Deadline: September 27, 2019

List of Awards

Latest blog

In our latest blog on the Canadian Family Physician website, Dr. Shelly Ross writes "Medical education and practice is gender neutral – or is it?"

Disseminate your work

Are you passionate about education? Consider submitting a Teaching Moment to Canadian Family Physician.

Practical topics for all teachers in family medicine, with an emphasis on evidence and best practice, are welcome. Published quarterly, submissions should be no more than 1,500 words. The next deadline is November 1, 2019, for the January 2020 issue.

View past Teaching Moments and contact us for full submission guidelines.

Do you have an idea to share?

Submit your blog about the past, present, or future of family medicine teaching.

Spotlight On: Tools for teaching and assessing collaboration

Several resources have been developed to support teaching and assessing the CanMEDS-FM Collaborator Role, and also serve to connect various family medicine education frameworks such as the Fundamental Teaching Activities and Evaluation Objectives. These resources have been developed for learners, and for the clinical preceptor who teaches within and outside of the clinical setting.

Check out our resources below.

Like our newsletter?

Consider forwarding this email to your family medicine colleagues!

Sign up for this newsletter!

STAY CONNECTED

