Research Article by CFPC Members Selected in BMJ’s Top 20

(July 16, 2015, Mississauga, ON) The CFPC is proud to acknowledge several CFPC members being recognized by The BMJ. The article entitled ‘Improving cardiovascular health at population level: 39 community cluster randomised trial of Cardiovascular Health Awareness Program (CHAP)’ and written by Drs. Janusz Kaczorowski, Lisa Dolovich, Bill Hogg, Cheryl Levitt, Karen Tu, et al has been selected as one of the top 20 articles published in The BMJ in the past 20 years.

The journal asked 20 international readers, authors, and former colleagues to name an outstanding article published since the mid-1990s. The result is a mix of editorials, research papers, analysis, and comment. The BMJ is sharing the list of selected articles that reflect medical history, patient experiences and issues that inspired readers to think and work differently.

Article link and why it was selected:

“This article will have enormous influence over the coming years because it tests, with positive, patient important results, an intervention aimed at harnessing ‘volunteer power’ in the community.” Brian Haynes, professor of clinical epidemiology and medicine, McMaster University Faculty of Health Sciences.

About the CFPC
The College of Family Physicians of Canada (CFPC) represents more than 34,000 members across the country. It is the professional organization responsible for establishing standards for the training and certification of family physicians. The CFPC reviews and accredits continuing professional development programs and materials that enable family physicians to meet certification and licencing requirements and lifelong learning interests. It also accredits postgraduate family medicine training in Canada’s 17 medical schools. The College provides quality services, supports family medicine teaching and research, and advocates on behalf of family physicians and the specialty of family medicine.

Contact:
Jayne Johnston
Director, Communications
College of Family Physicians of Canada
905-629-0900 ext 303
jjohnston@cfpc.ca
www.cfpc.ca
@FamPhysCan