Policy Background: This policy outlines the roles and responsibilities of the Board Directors and each of the Officer positions.

1) BOARD OF DIRECTORS

A) Composition

- The Board of Directors shall be comprised of the elected Officers (President, Past-President, President-Elect, Secretary-Treasurer), at least 7 elected Directors-at-Large and the Executive Director/Chief Executive Officer as a non-voting member.
- The President and all other Officers and Board Directors shall assume the duties of their offices immediately following the Annual Meeting of Members at which the election results are shared. The President shall be installed at an official installation ceremony.
- All Officers shall assume their duties concurrently and shall hold office for one year, or until their successors have assumed office. Directors-at-Large shall assume their duties concurrently and shall hold office for three years. The Board and Nominating Committee may approach a Director-at-Large completing their first term, to ascertain interest in seeking election (uncontested) for a second term, if their continued contributions to the skill-base of the Board have been determined to be desirable.
- Any vacancy of an Officer's or Director's position as a result of death, disability, resignation, dismissal, or otherwise, may be filled by a member appointed by the Board, with the individual so appointed to serve the unexpired term of their predecessor.
- All Directors shall comply with the CFPC's code of conduct and conflict of interest policies. Each Director shall be bound by such standards of performance for Directors as the board may from time to time prescribe.

B) Responsibilities of all Board Directors

Preamble

The Board composition is intended to introduce diversity in perspectives. Open discussion should allow representation of interests and views of constituencies. Good communications among Board Directors and with the leadership team make for a strong and cohesive organization. Issues often arise between Board meetings that require the Board's input and decisions and for these the Board typically communicates asynchronously.

General

- Fiduciary duty requires board directors to stay objective, unselfish, responsible, honest, trustworthy, efficient and to perform their duties with focused loyalty. Board directors, as stewards of public trust, must always act for the good of the organization (and its members), rather than for the benefit of themselves. They need to exercise reasonable care in all decision making, without placing the organization under unnecessary risk and support the final decisions of the Board. Board members will be mindful of the dual role of organization success/sustainability and the membership value proposition.
- Declare any conflicts of interest.
- Develop a thorough knowledge of College goals and objectives, bylaws, operating procedures, and financial affairs.
- Actively encourage family physician involvement in the CFPC and each Chapter.
- Participate thoughtfully in the board evaluation process including providing thoughtful and insightful information about one's own skills/experiences/perspectives as they pertain to the composition of the Board as a whole.
- Volunteer for and willingly accept assignments and complete them thoroughly and on time, to the best of your ability.
- Participate in mentoring linkages with fellow Board Directors as determined by the Board.
- Submit written summaries to the Board of any meetings attended as a CFPC representative.

During meetings

- Participate thoughtfully in discussions of the Board and be prepared to discuss agenda items.
- Collaborate with other Board directors and build collegial working relationships.
- Be open to thoughtful discussion, discord and possible disagreements.
- Conduct debates in an atmosphere of mutual respect, courtesy, co-operation and collegiality.
- Be aware of the potential for, and challenge if needed, the phenomenon of groupthink: where the desire for conformity or group harmony results in sub-optimal or dysfunctional decision-making to the detriment of the organization and its members. To facilitate this, the Board will be provided insight into various options analyzed by staff/committee as well as staff/committee recommendation(s) in order to make the best decisions for the good of the organization and its members.

- If a Board director feels their comments or concerns have not been completely communicated or were misunderstood, the Director may reach out to one of the Officers to have a conversation. The Officers will discuss and suggest constructive ways to communicate or otherwise handle issues.

In between meetings

- Review meeting materials in advance of Board meetings. Provide pre-meeting feedback as may be requested.
- For asynchronous communication
 - Review documents, provide feedback and participate in discussions electronically (and in a timely fashion).
 - Read emails assuming positive intention on the part of the sender. If asynchronous communication is proving unsuccessful, request synchronous communication by asking either the Chair of the Board or the Office of the CEO to convene a board discussion.
 - Similarly, when a decision is being sought, if Board directors do not feel comfortable voting electronically, they may request an opportunity for discussion.
- Board Directors communicate directly with the CFPC CEO and President. The CEO engages additional CFPC Staff as appropriate.

Social Media

Board directors are ambassadors for the CFPC and as such are expected:

- To read and follow the Social Media Policy.
- To support, consistent and aligned messaging from the CFPC through collaboration with the CEO, the Director of Marketing and Communications and the Social Media Specialist who are available for support.
- To help quell issues on social media by responding early to help members feel heard.
- When contacted directly by members and a reply is warranted, to let the member know that the Board director has heard them and will share their question/concern with the team and get back to them. Concern should be forwarded to CEO and Director of Marketing and Communications.

- Board Directors should also expect to be kept aware by the CEO and Director of Marketing and Communications of social media posts of major concern that risk reputational damage to the College.
